Interested in a career in nursing?

NHS nurses have done so much for the nation over the last two years.

International Nurses Day gives us all the chance to say thank you, and celebrate everything they do for us, every day.

It is also a chance to inspire the next generation of nurses. If you are interested in a career in nursing,

Sign up to receive all the information you need on a nursing career on the NHS Health Careers website including the routes in, inspiring stories and how to apply.
